Take Gorgeous Underwater Photos With This iPad Case

The LifeProof nüüd for iPad is made for being in the pool, fresh water and ocean, so it doesn't matter what kind of water sports you're into. The new waterproof case from LifeProof makes your iPad virtually invincible and aptly prepared for submersion in 6.6 feet of water.

The buff case provides protection for the iPad 2 [1] and third-generation iPad [2] from water, shock, dust, grime and snow.

The iPad case is thinner than most protective covers on the market. The company takes pride in its "naked screen technology." There's only a sleek covering on the iPad's screen enabling optimal touch sensitivity and response — no thick glass or plastic.

The iPad case is sturdy, lightweight and made to stay on. There are easy-to-access charging posts, which come with screw-on or push-in waterproof seals when it comes time to submerge the iPad under water. The iPad's buttons, features and speaker ports are also accessible while the case is on.

The nüüd case was made with a lot of lifestyles in mind. Busy moms with young kids can safely multitask around food and drinks with stain-resistant and wet-proof casing. Bring on the juice, sauce and crumbs.

The case can also protect the iPad in four-feet-high drops — perfect for those who hike, work in construction and could benefit from the shock safeguards. It weighs less than a pound and promises to protect your iPad for years to come with gentle care, of course. LifeProof also offers replacement parts in case of any cracks and damages.

The LifeProof is available online [3] for $149.99.

Bonus Gallery: Pictures of the LifeJacket Waterproof iPhone Case

First, make sure the screen is clean and free of dust particles or small hairs.

Next, make sure that none of the seals are compromised.

The Life Jacket case is an add-on to the LifePro case that allows the case to be waterproof and float should you happen to drop it.

The Life Jacket case comes with two lanyards - one for wearing around your wrist - as demonstrated - and one to wear around your neck.

Side note: no the water is not green; the base of the bowl is!

It's stressful putting your phone in the water at first, but the Life Jacket case does its job and keeps your phone bobbing on the surface.

Once you clear the initial stress hurdle of submerging your phone in water, putting the Life Jacket on the LifeProof case and watching it float is a breeze.

Read More [7]

September 19, 2012

Source URL (retrieved on 12/22/2013 - 12:45am):
http://www.wirelessdesignmag.com/news/2012/09/take-gorgeous-underwater-photos-ipad-case

Links:
[1] http://www.wirelessdesignmag.com/mashable.com/follow/topics/ipad

[2] http://mashable.com/2012/03/07/ipad-name/
[3] http://www.lifeproof.com/iPad
[4] http://mashable.com/2012/09/19/small-biz-tech/
[5] http://mashable.com/2012/08/28/twitter-t-shirts/
[6] http://mashable.com/2012/09/05/youtube-hungry-cats/
[7] http://mashable.com/2012/09/17/waterproof-ipad-case/#view_as_one_page-gallery_box6229