

Find Your Child, Pet or Suitcase With 'I'm Here' GPS Tracker

Emily Price

The CES show floor was home to several GPS trackers this year. One of the most interesting was I'm Here, a tracker developed by the same company that created an Android smart watch called I'm Watch [1].

Unveiled during the company's CES press conference, I'm Here is a pint-sized tracker designed to help you keep up with everything from your suitcase to your kindergartener.

The tracker works using the same technology found in cell phones. Users can find out where the device is located — whether it's in a bag or tied to a shoe — whenever they want

Source URL (retrieved on 01/30/2015 - 1:46pm):

<http://www.wirelessdesignmag.com/news/2013/01/find-your-child-pet-or-suitcase-im-here-gps-tracker?qt-blogs=0>

Links:

[1] http://mashable.com/2013/01/09/im-watch/?utm_medium=email&utm_source=newsletter