

Software Development

A new brochure detailing real-time and embedded systems software development capabilities has been published by RTSoft. The four page, color brochure highlights RTSoft's ability to provide complete solutions to clients by building on its library of software and integration tools. The range of RTSoft services and capabilities listed in the brochure include software development, systems integration, expertise in real-time operating systems, and expertise in Linux, Windows, and SCADA/MMI.

The brochure also covers the capabilities that make RTSoft a potential software development partner for embedded systems organizations. RTSoft engineers test and validate its products at every step of the development cycle, and the company fully documents and guarantees all projects.

Source URL (retrieved on 02/01/2015 - 9:25pm):

<http://www.wirelessdesignmag.com/product-releases/2001/04/software-development>