

Free Subscriptions to its Monthly Technical eJournal

Newark, part of the global Premier Farnell Group, announces it is offering free subscriptions to its monthly technical eJournal, Leading Edge, at <http://www.newark.com/info>. Launched six months ago Leading Edge has been available only to Newark's technical and design engineer customers. Each issue of Leading Edge focuses on the very latest design solutions for a specific application, such as signal chains, power management or wired connectivity. Its quick-read format provides synopses of technical articles, many original, from a number of top manufacturers. Links are available to view the full articles and detailed information on any relevant products, including supporting products.
